Fourteenth Week in Ordinary Time

(by hand to those without email)

STEWARSHIP

Over the coming weeks Sally Hawkins, our Treasurer, and I will take on a tour of our finances.

We will set out our various sources of income and the lines of expenditure.

We will bring before you our current mission and ministry and our vision for the future as we emerge from COVID into a very different world.

We are a faith community with our feet firmly planted on the ground. It is important that we are all fully involved on this journey together.

Fr Peter

FROM THE TREASURER

Stewardship Sunday

For a number of reasons we have chosen not to have Stewardship Sunday. Mainly because it limits our access to all Parishioners, especially now that we have live-streaming and some are watching our services from home. Instead we have decided to do a series of articles through the Newsletter discussing how to generate income to ensure the Parish continues to be viable. We will be looking at the different existing avenues of income and how they are working for us in our present situation. We will look at the life and mission of the Parish which obviously needs both human and material resources to be able to function in a healthy and meaningful way. Our goal is to ensure we have the income needed to cover our operational costs, which mainly consist of Payroll, utilities, ministerial expenses and maintenance. To do this we do rely on sacrificial giving from those participating in Parish life. By gaining more knowledge and understanding of the operational costs of the Parish through our articles in the Newsletter, our Stewardship goal is for every one of us to review our sacrificial giving.

I have personally loved seeing the strong fellowship and connection at Sunday worship. It is something that I feel is part of the fabric of life that gives us the opportunity to reflect and be mindful of our contribution to our community and church life. We are fortunate to be a part of a very caring and thoughtful Parish.

Sally Hawkins

SUNDAY WORSHIP – SOME THOUGHTS

Thank you for your feedback on our Sunday worship as it has evolved over the last 18 months since the pandemic hit.

We acted quickly in putting our Sunday worship on-line via live-streaming, and our meditaions and morning and evening prayer on Zoom. These days we seem to have the flexibility to ride with the vagaries of shifting COVID rules so that we properly care for eachother and our guests. Thanks to Jenni Farrar, our chief COVID Officer.

Not only have maintained our all important rhythms of worship and spiritual practice but we have gained a new on-line congregation which enriches our life – although not always in ways that can be seen immediately.

I would like to thank our Parish Council team for their leadership and unfailing patience with and support of me. Thanks also to those on the Sunday Rosters, without whom there would be no Sunday gathering, neither for worship nor morning tea.

Orders of Service. People have said they like the printed order of service. To save paper I have reduced it to 8 pages. To achieve this I have removed the texts of the readings.

To compensate, from now on there will be two links in the this Newsletter (see below):

1. Which will take you to the readings for the Sunday Eucharist about to take place.
2. Readings for the next Sunday.

When you arrive at the site you will find the 4 set readings but will have to ignore two alternate readings which don't apply to us. If you have trouble navigating this, please tell me.

Father Peter

GOSPEL OF THE DAY - Mark 6:1-13

JESUS left that place and came to his hometown, and his disciples followed him. On the sabbath he began to teach in the synagogue, and many who heard him were astounded. They said, "Where did this man get all this? What is this wisdom that has been given to him? What deeds of power are being done by his hands! Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary and brother of James and Joses and Judas and Simon, and are not his sisters here with us?" And they took offense at him. Then Jesus said to them, "Prophets are not without honor, except in their hometown, and among their own kin, and in their own house." And he could do no deed of power there, except that he laid his hands on a few sick people and cured them. And he was amazed at their unbelief. Then he went about among the villages teaching. He called the twelve and began to send them out two by two, and gave them authority over the unclean spirits. He ordered them to take nothing for their journey except a staff; no bread, no bag, no money in their belts; but to wear sandals and not to put on two tunics. He said to them, "Wherever you enter a house, stay there until you leave the place. If any place will not welcome you and they refuse to hear you, as you leave, shake off the dust that is on your feet as a testimony against them." So they went out and proclaimed that all should repent. They cast out many demons, and anointed with oil many who were sick and cured them.

As today's gospel reading shows, the practice of the Church anointing the sick for healing was instituted by Jesus.

OUR PRAYERS THIS WEEK

Prayer of the week

O God,
you have prepared for those who love you
such good things as pass our understanding:
pour into our hearts such love toward you,
that, loving you above all things,
we may obtain your promises
which exceed all that we can desire;
through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

WHAT'S IN A WORD - JENNI'S GOOGLE WANDERINGS AND WONDERINGS

What's the difference between Eucharist and Holy Communion There is virtually no difference, just one of emphasis. Both terms are for the Blessed Sacrament where we receive Jesus in the form of bread and wine.

The word Eucharist comes from the Greek word εὐχαριστία (eucharistia), which means "thanksgiving". Hence Anglicans refer to the Eucharistic prayer for consecrating the elements of bread and wine "the Great Thanksgiving". The word communion comes from the Latin communio, derived from the Greek κοινωνία (koinonia). It refers to the sharing of fellowship between those partaking in the sacrament with one another and with Jesus. It shares the same root as the words community and commune.

Some people prefer to emphasize the thanksgiving aspect of the sacrament, others on the communal aspect. They choose their terms accordingly.

Some prefer yet another term, the Lord's Supper. A few prefer Breaking of the Bread.

"This is my Body"

*'Twas Christ the Word that spake it,
The same took bread and break it,
And as the Word did make it,
So I believe and take it.*

A young Queen Elizabeth I, reflecting upon the Lord's Supper.

*We acknowledge that we gather and worship on the traditional land of Wadda Wurrung people and honour and pay our respects to their Elders past and present. We affirm, with them, in the Wadda Wurrung language: 'kim barne barre Wadda Wurrung' (this is the land of the Wadda Warrung).

All these terms are attested in the earliest texts of the Church. “Lord’s Supper” is Biblical (1 Corinthians), and “Communion” is also briefly mentioned in 1 Corinthians. “Eucharist” is used in the Didache, dating from the first century.

Churches in the Catholic tradition (including Anglicans/Escopopilians and Old Catholics) often use the word Eucharist to refer to the entire rite, while the word Communion is used for the sacramental elements themselves, hence “to receive Communion”. Other churches use them interchangeably or may not use them at all.

Adecco

Adecco Recruitment has partnered with the Australian Bureau of Statistics to recruit 38,000 temporary employees in areas across the country. These employees will play an important role in helping people to lodge their Census forms for the Australian National Census 2021.

The Census provides valuable insights into the make-up of Australian society and is often the only source of data on small population groups and small geographic areas, which is why it is vital that we achieve the highest level of engagement and participation possible within your area.

More people are needed in our area. If you would like to be involved please view the current vacancies at <https://censusjobs.adecco.com.au/applications>
