First Sunday of Lent

(by hand to those without email)

SOME THOUGHTS ON LENT

Between 1939 and 1943 English artist Stanley Spencer painted his 'Christ in the Wilderness' series of eight canvases. These are held in the Art Gallery of Western Australia.

I invite you to enjoy with me some of these paintings over the coming weeks of Lent. Stanley was a man of deep Christian faith; consequently his art has deep theological currents. This series was painted during the years of the Second World War by a man who knew the worst of war as a former soldier. So, to have Jesus in this personal, contemplative engagement with nature is, at the very least, thought provoking. Is this how Jesus spent those 40 days preparing for his ministry of proclaiming the Good News of the Kingdom of God?

As in Stanley Spencer's day, there is much of concern in our world today. Amidst war and so much other human suffering it has never been more important to contemplate creation in all its wonder and beauty intentionally and in a sustained way. As we connect with creation, in both its suffering and beauty, perhaps we will be better equipped to proclaim the Good News of God's love for the whole of creation.

INTRODUCING DOROTHY HALL –

From Fr Peter: Dorothy wasn't able to attend our Parish Consultation on Sunday 20 February. She has put pen to paper to give us her feedback. Dorothy is an example somebody who has both contributed to and benefitted from the on-line dimension of our Parish's life. She was an enormous help to me personally and to the group who met on Zoom for the Daily Prayers and Meditations during the first year or so of the pandemic. Many a time, including Thursdays, my day off, Dorothy would 'open' the Zoom room and made sure the rhythm prayer was maintained. Now that things have moved on and she able to be face to face in her local community of Buninyong new round of decisions will be made. Thank you Dorothy very much, and every blessing as things evolve and we move into new futures.

Dear Peter and the parish,

I am unable to attend the discussion today but I would like to make a few brief comments about the live-streaming, meditation and morning/evening prayer opportunities. I also attended a couple of zoom study sessions. The ministry was a lifesaver to me when all the shut-downs hit. Viewing the church where I had visited on numerous occasions in the past at the House of Prayer gave me a sense of being at home with the community once again. I received much encouragement, support and spiritual nourishment, and making friends with new people in the zoom groups helped to heal the wounds of waiting in isolation. The continuity of the ministries gave me an anchor in troubled times and have been moments of joyful anticipation and fellowship with others.

As restrictions eased and opportunities of meeting face to face with my local community returned, and without devaluing the cyber ministries in which I was involved, I have found that my need for seeing real faces has superseded my desire for virtual contact. I am now reconnecting with my local community in new and different ways - Covid certainly gave plenty of aloneness to reflect! I am ever-so-grateful for the cyber ministries that the parish has conducted and congratulate the team for reliability and perseverance despite the practical difficulties. I have had a peep into the parish's life and have grown to respect the various and valuable extensions into your wider community. I have been greatly blessed in experiencing how God has continued to lovingly hold me throughout the troubled times we have all lived under.

Dorothy Hall Footnote. Dorothy also made many of the masks in the early days of Covid to help with availability and raise funds for the Parish.

AFTER A COVID DELAY, ST GEORGE'S OLD SCHOOL HALL BLOSSOMS

Mina Yu, Richard Pavlidis and William Vyvyan Murray perform in the Nth Wing of the Old School Hall on Sunday 27th February

When the covid pandemic hit two years ago we have just finished a major refurbishing of the North Wing of the St George's Old School Hall with a view to further deloping the Old Scholl Hall as an arts/performance hub. We are now seeing that vision fulfilled. We are seeing steady bookings for concerts and exhibitions taking place in this most beautiful of Queenscliff buildings.

GOSPEL OF THE DAY Luke 4.1-15

Jesus, full of the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit in the wilderness, where for forty days he was tempted by the devil. He ate nothing at all during those days, and when they were over, he was famished. The devil said to him, 'If you are the Son of God, command this stone to become a loaf of bread.' Jesus answered him, 'It is written, "One does not live by bread alone."' Then the devil led him up and showed him in an instant all the kingdoms of the world. And the devil said to him, 'To you I will give their glory and all this authority; for it has been given over to me, and I give it to anyone I please. If you, then, will worship me, it will all be yours.' Jesus answered him, 'It is written, "Worship the Lord your God, and serve only him."' Then the devil took him to Jerusalem, and placed him on the pinnacle of the temple, saying to him, 'If you are the Son of God, throw yourself down from here, for it is written, "He will command his angels concerning you, to protect you", and "On their hands they will bear you up, so that you will not dash your foot against a stone."' Jesus answered him, 'It is said, "Do not put the Lord your God to the test."' When the devil had finished every test, he departed from him until an opportune time. Then Jesus, filled with the power of the Spirit, returned to Galilee, and a report about him spread through all the surrounding country. He began to teach in their synagogues and was praised by everyone.

WHAT'S IN A WORD - JENNI'S GOOGLE WANDERINGS AND WONDERINGS

Shrove Tuesday Last night, we had a lovely gathering for Shrove Tuesday. Big thanks to Head Cook Jill Jackson for the pancakes, Fiona Lindsay for the Ratatouille and lovely sweet toppings, and Helen Martin for the Bolognese. It's not about the pancakes, although they were delicious.

The tradition of acknowledging the start of the Lenten fast has been observed for at least hundreds of years. By the age of the late Middle Ages, the feast of Shrovetide lasted until the start of Lent. It was customary in many cultures to eat pancakes or other foods made with the butter, eggs, and fat that would be given up during the Lenten season. The particular tradition of British Christians enjoying pancakes on Shrove Tuesday dates back to the 16th century.

Along with its celebration of feasting, another tradition of Shrove Tuesday includes Christians repenting of their sins in preparation to start the season of Lent. Ecclesiastical Institutes from about 1000 AD declared: "In the week immediately before Lent everyone shall go to his confessor and confess his deeds and the confessor shall so shrive him as he then may hear by his deeds what he is to do [in the way of penance]".

In many Protestant and Roman Catholic Christian churches, a popular Shrove Tuesday ritual is the ringing of the church bells (on this day, known as the Shrivng Bell) "to call the faithful to confession before the solemn season of Lent" and for people to "begin frying their pancakes". Some churches also burn the palms distributed during the previous year's Palm Sunday liturgies to make the ashes used during the services held on the very next day, Ash Wednesday.

Shrove Tuesday serves multiple purposes of encouraging Christians to repent of their sins before the start of Lent on Ash Wednesday and also giving them the opportunity to partake in a last round of jubilation before the beginning of the austere Lenten season, which is characterized by making a Lenten sacrifice, fasting, praying and several spiritual disciplines, such as checking a Lenten calendar and reading a daily devotional.

On Shrove Tuesday, the final day of the Shrovetide season, many Christians, such as Anglicans, Lutherans, Methodists, and Roman Catholics, have an emphasized focus of self-examination, reflecting on what sins they need to repent for, and what improvements in life or aspects of spiritual growth they need to ask God's help in edifying.

Additionally, many Christians conclude their determination of what Lenten sacrifices they will make for the 40 days of Lent on Shrove Tuesday. While undergoing a Lenten sacrifice, it is helpful to pray for strength; and encouraging fellow Christians in their fast saying, for example: "May God bless your Lenten sacrifice." The name "Shrove Tuesday" arises from it marking the culmination of the season known as Shrovetide which includes indulging in food that one might give up as their Lenten sacrifice.

The word shrove is a form of the English word shrive, which means to receive absolution for one's sins by way of Confession and fulfilling a penance. Thus Shrove Tuesday was named after the tradition of Christians to be "shriven" before the start of Lent.
